at in bank ready to pay gitts in full. Date of Concert and Distribution or Uitts definitely fixed for JULY STH, 1873.

Governor Bramtette, of Kentucky, sent the following despatch vesterday afternoon to the New York Agency of Public Library of Kentucky:

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 7, 1873.

Thos. H. Hars & Co., New York Agents Public Library of Kentucky Gitt Concert, 609 Broadway:

A sufficient number of tickets having been sold to guarantee a full drawing at the Third Grand Gift Concert, the management have placed Five Hundred Thousand Dollars with the Treasurer in Bank to pay the gitts in full; and in order to give opportunity to sell the limited number of tickets remaining on hand to benefit of the Public Library, have deferred the day of Concert and Drawing until July 8th, 1873.

THOS. BRAMLETTE,

Everything is now certain, and there should be no delay in securing tickets, as what remain unsoeld will doubtless be closed out very easily, the sales of this Concert having been comparatively far in excess of those at either of the previous Concerts. This is the
